

Speech & Language Therapy Services

It is estimated that 5% of children enter school with difficulties in speech and language. We offer access to a qualified Speech and Language Therapist who can assess and treat children and young people with specific speech, language and communication difficulties in order to enable them to communicate to the best of their ability.

Speech and Language Therapy input based on thorough assessment can take the form of individual therapeutic programmes delivered directly to pupils in one hour sessions (but with a member of staff also involved), group therapeutic programmes based on need, and modelling of therapeutic programmes to staff who then deliver the programme. The therapist can work with staff on IEP setting, as well as attending Team Around the Child (TAC) meetings where appropriate. Alternatively, the therapist can provide an audit of a classroom, or revision of current whole school practice, working together to meet whole school speech, language and communication needs (provision mapping).
